Introduction

Lothian Health Council was an independent body set up in 1991 to represent the views of the public in Lothian.

Its main responsibilities were:

- The provision of advice and information about the NHS
- Advising the public on the procedure for making complaints about the NHS
- Visiting and Monitoring health care premises and services
- Consulting the public on proposed changes to health services

Statutory consumer representation in the NHS was introduced in 1974 when local health councils were first established. Lothian Health Council was created in 1991 as part of a reorganisation and merger of the 48 original health councils.

In 2005, Lothian Health Council amalgamated with other Local Health Councils to form the Scottish Health Council.

1 Minutes and Papers of Lothian Health Council, 1991-2005

The first formal meeting of the Full Lothian Health Council was held on 16 April 1991. The documents for each meeting consist of an agenda with associated papers; and the minutes of the previous meeting. Minutes of the Lothian Health Council Executive Committee meetings are often included in the papers too. Therefore, there are overlaps between this series and LHB50/2.

The minutes and papers are held on CD and on paper. The electronic files are arranged in folders by date (as denoted by underlined headings in this list). The image filename is given in square brackets. The CDs also contain minutes of the Lothian Health Council Annual General Meetings.

Abbreviations Used: FCM: Full Council Meeting
ECM: Executive Committee Meeting
AGM: Annual General Meeting of the Lothian Health Council

2 Minutes and Papers of Lothian Health Council Executive Committee, 1996-2004

In January 1992, the Full Lothian Health Council agreed to form an executive committee who would meet monthly 2 weeks prior to the full LHC full meetings.

The documents for each meeting consist of an agenda with associated papers and the minutes of the previous meeting. Minutes of the Full Lothian Health Council meetings are often included in the papers too. Therefore, there are overlaps between this series and LHB50/1.

The minutes and papers are held on a CD: 'CD 2 – LHC EXEC Committee Meetings'. The files are arranged in folders by date (as denoted by underlined headings in this list). The image filename is given in square brackets.
